WAR OF RACES. nobody is trying to precipitate such a political character. calamity upon the country. For seven years the white people of the South have counseled with the negro, and struggled by pacific means to produce that friendly feeling which should subsist between two races whose interests are mutually dependent upon each other. But the negro persists in warring upon the whites, and in hurling himself against the whites at every election. The whites have, unmurmuringly, submitted to this antagonism, attributing it to ignorance, and hoping that time would supply the remedy. But each successive election only intensifies the hate of the negro of Missouri, and asking of the Circuit Court an adjudication of her right to toward the whites, and now that social equality is demanded, the whites are fitted to the swell whites, and now that social equality is demanded, the whites will swear in their hearts to forever oppose the consummation of this outrage. If the mongrels and the Radicals would prevent a war of races, let them tell the negro and the little output for the left of the research and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, would prevent a war of races, let them tell the negro and the little and the propose the consummation of this outrage. years the white people of the South have would prevent a war of races, let them tell the negro and the country that Congress cannot enforce social equality any more than it can change the color of the negro's skin. The demonstration last night was simply a demonstration of the Southern whites. The procession, the whooping and yelling were all by the negroes. It does not comport with the genius of our institutions to have in our midst a German party, an Irish party, a White man's he is in the minority, and this persistent | Corrupt Cameronian legislation affects

They seem to enjoy such calamity to the white man with flendish pleasure. This is the case among them as a general rule. There may be here and there, but very rarely, an exception to this will not appreciably affect the market, and we modestly suggest that no one with the negro—felt disposed to attribute his strange antagonism to the white man principally to the white man principally to the teachings of his bad white leaders; but of late our mind has become changed, and we have come to the control of the contr rested and thrown into prison. In the abstrockery love and affection is concerned. To see the hordes of negroes, with their deep-seated hatred to the white race, flocking around the Marchinals anxious to tell their odious false-boods against any citizen to whom his freed points, is enough to diagnst the most philanthropic heart, and turn it to hatred against a set of creatures who are dependent for support on the very people they are purjuring themselves to involve in trouble. And then, to see the exultation exhibited by these misguided imgrates whenever a white man is brought to prison, is quite enough to convince all that the negro is determined to hurl himself against every thing his employer favors. We are perfectly satisfied that if the white people of the country persist in renting land to, and hiring negross—in supporting the aged among them, and raising up the younger ones to manhood and to a voting age-they are digging their own political and the of the contrast of the country persist in renting land to, and hiring negross—in supporting the aged among them, and raising up the younger ones to manhood and to a voting age-they are digging their own political and to for the contrast of the contrast of the country persist in renting land to, and hiring negross—in supporting the aged among them, and raising up the younger ones to manhood and to a voting age-they are digging their own political and the contrast of the contrast of the country persist in renting land to, and hiring negross—in supporting the aged among them, and to a voting age—they are digging their own political and the contrast of the contrast of the country persist in renting land to, and hiring negross—in supporting the aged among them, and to a voting age—they are digging their own political and the contrast of so far as brotherly love and affection is they are digging their own political and sand financial graves; and they are, by their own acts, coiling about their needs the cable of slavery and oppression, tied with Gordian knot, which, will hold them to the car of despotism for all time.

The election of Giddings is, however, still doubtful.
